Tell us a bit about yourself.

I am a licensed psychologist and clinical behavior analyst from Belfast, N.Ireland. I completed my academic and clinical training in Ireland, U.K. and the USA, with experience being an international and nontraditional student.

I am queer identifying and actively committed to practices of cultural humility and antiracism in my personal and professional life. I strive to provide compassionate, affirmative, and culturally responsive care that is individually tailored to each person's needs.

What interests you about working with USC School of Architecture students?

I am looking forward to connect with students and their curiosity, unique creativity, attention to detail, and appreciation for design, as it is an influence and interaction with human experience.

Do you have a favorite quote that keeps you motivated?

“Done is better than perfect” and “you are enough.”

What do you do to de-stress?

I dance, sleep, read books, appreciate small things, enjoy nature, mindfulness and cats.
